17. Export Compliance for the Biosafety Professional

A distance learning opportunity

June 14, 2024

12:00 – 2:30 PM (CDT)

Export Compliance for the Biosafety Professional is designed to help biosafety officers and other professionals understand how U.S. export control laws and regulations intersect with the roles and responsibilities of a biosafety administrator. The webinar will discuss the regulatory framework governing exports from the United States, how to navigate export compliance challenges in academic and medical research environments, and best practices for handling biological exports while maintaining safety and security.

This webinar will be a 2.5-hour session on Friday, June 14, 2024, at 12:00 pm (CDT). For the webinar session, you should plan on logging in 15 minutes prior to the start time. You are required to attend the webinar sessions, complete and/or access all the modules in the course on the training site to receive the completion certificate through the ABSA International Training Site. The link in the invitation will be unique to the user and cannot be shared.

Upon completion of this webinar, participants will be able to:

- Paraphrase the general framework of U.S. Export Controls regulations
- Recognize overlapping areas of expertise and responsibility between biosafety officers and export control officers
- Identify export-controlled material common to academic and medical research
- Develop strategies to address future compliance challenges
- Incorporate appropriate export compliance messages that will resonate with the target audience when providing training

The webinar will be presented by the following subject matter experts:

Jessica Buchanan, PhD, Research Security and Export Compliance, University of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia, PA

Quinton Johnson, JD, Assistant Vice Chancellor for Research, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, Chapel Hill, NC

Wesley Johnson, PhD, Microbiologist, Bureau of Industry and Security, U.S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND

- Biosafety professionals in academic and other research institutions.
- Anyone who regularly communicates about biosafety with the public or non-biosafety professionals
